Will Zia Break his Duck?

Bridge is almost unique amongst the major sporting contests in that players of all abilities meet in competition. Imagine being able to play a round alongside Tiger Woods, or stand on the opposite side of the net to Serena Williams. No chance!

However, the World Mixed Pairs, the traditional hors d'oeuvre at these quadrennial Championships always attracts a substantial field that is packed with talent, giving everyone taking part a chance to rub shoulders with many legendary figures. Those of you with time on your hands might try and calculate the number of World Champions taking part. They include four time World Champion Judi Radin whose partnership with Zia is setting a hot pace as the mercurial magician goes in search of his first World title. They are being chased by South Africa's Valerie Bloom and Neville Eber who are followed by two American pairs, Christal Henner and Roy Welland and Renee Mancuso and Geoff Hampson. The first European name on the leader board is that of Italy's Fulvio Fantoni who is partnered by Donna Compton of the USA.

The leading Canadian pair is Linda Wynston and Steve Gittins who are ninth.

Mixed Pairs Final and Consolation

The final will be played in seven sections of 13 tables, a total of 182 pairs, in the Hotel Queen Elizabeth. It will be played with screens. Pairs will carry-over a score with the weight of one session of the final, being their average percentage in the qualification. The Mixed Pairs Plate (Consolation) will be played in both hotels. There will be no screens and no carry-over. The positions will be posted on the Mezzanine Floor in Queen Elizabeth and in the corridor on the playing floor in both hotels. Please remember to inform the TD-staff if you do NOT intend to play in the Consolation event. Starting time for both events is 1600 hours.

Finale des paires mixtes et consolation

7 tournois de 13 tables joueront la finale du tournoi par paires mixtes, soit 182 paires, à l'hôtel Queen Elisabeth. Le tournoi sera joué avec des écrans. Le Carry-over attribué après les éliminatoires aura le poids d'une séance supplémentaire de la finale, prenant en compte le pourcentage moyen réalisé lors des éliminatoires. Les positions de départ seront affichées à l'étage Mezzanine et dans le couloir à l'étage des salles de jeu dans les deux hôtels. La consolation du mixte sera jouée, dans les deux hôtels, sans écran, ni carry-over. Papelez vous d'informer un arbitre dans le cas ou vous n'avez pas l'intention de jouer le tournoi de consolation pas paires mixtes. L'horaire des premières séances est fixée au dimanche à 16.00 heures.

Bridge the Silver Way

Joey Silver is always a source of interesting hands and, sure enough, he called in to the Bulletin Office to talk us through a few deals from Session One of the Mixed Pairs Qualifying.

When Rhoda Habert opened 1♦, playing a weak no trump system, Andrew Robson overcalled and Joey bid INT, raised to game by Habert. Rita Shugart led king and another spade and Robson won the ace and returned the ♠3, suit preference, while Shugart threw a club. Joey was very tempted to run the ♦9 but decided to cash a top diamond then cross back to hand with a club and run the ♦9. In practice, Shugart covered with the jack so Joey won and cashed two more diamond winners. On the diamonds, Robson threw a heart, a club, then another heart. It really looked as though clubs were four-two and in that case Robson was down to a stiff heart. Joey cashed the ♥A, crossed to the ♣K and ran the ♥10 to come to ten tricks and an excellent +630.

Sometimes one can be too clever for one's own good.

Habert's 3♦ response showed a constructive four-card heart raise. When Grant Baze bid 3♥, take-out, Joey decided it was time for some flair and imagination. He cuebid his two low diamonds then cuebid them for a second time. Had he bid in more straightforward fashion, he might have discovered that his partner had the required diamond controls. As it was, he eventually guessed to bid 6♥ and the cold grand was missed.

Did anybody ever tell you that when you have opened INT you are supposed to leave further bidding to partner because you have limited your hand? Joey judged the North hand to be a weak no trump - the alternatives of either bidding and rebidding that weak club suit or of opening 1♦ and rebidding 2♣ did not appeal. However, when West made a transfer overcall, Joey took the opportunity to show his diamonds via a double, and when the bidding came back to him he took a third bid. Three Clubs was just the right spot and scored very well for the Canadians.

That South hand looks nearer to a strong two bid than a weak one but Habert chose to treat it as a weak 2♦ opening. However, remembering how often Joey had bid on the previous deal, Rhoda felt it only fair that she should be allowed to bid a second time on this one. Five Clubs doubled was a fine save and one down scored very well indeed for North/South.

Welcome address of ACBL President George Retek

On behalf of the American Contract Bridge League and the bridge population of Montreal, I wish to extend our warmest welcome to our friendly city.

I still remember vividly the first World Championship that I attended some 20 years ago. No doubt for some of you this is an initial experience, and for many years you'll remember it with a smile on your face. For others, seasoned veterans, this is a return trip to test their skills against the best the world can offer.

We Montrealers feel honoured to be your hosts at these championships. At this point I would like you to recognize some of our volunteers who have been preparing for this moment for many years:

Dr. Tibor Bertalan, the Chairman of our Organizing Committee;

Rejean Blanchette, his assistant;

Jean-Guy Daoust, President of the Montreal Bridge League;

Barbara Corcoran, Monique Laurin and Agi Bertalan, who are in charge of registration and hospitality;

Jean Castonguay, Recruiter of Caddies;

Brian Fraser, Treasurer;

Roger Dunn, Webmaster;

My wife, Mari, who helped me through the darkest hours and looks after our entertainment.

I would like to ask all volunteers present to stand up and be recognized.

Thank you, thank you, merci beaucoup.

For two weeks our city will be your city. I hope you'll have a wonderful time.

Eight years ago, the then President of the ACBL, Virgil Anderson, who unfortunately is not here tonight, impressed me by concluding his speech in several languages. Utilizing my absolutely perfect pronunciation, let me greet you again.

Session One

Qualifying Transnational Mixed Pairs

The first session of the Mixed Pairs Qualifying stage got under way remarkably promptly yesterday morning. With so many pairs to choose from it was a pure guess where the best action would take place. Alas, through no fault of the players, I managed to pick a particularly dull series of deals. Hopefully, my co-editor, who was watching a different part of the movement, will have more to report.

I started by watching a few deals at the table where Sweden's Magnus Lindkvist was partnering Terri Weigkricht of Austria then moved on to watch Pablo Lambardi of Argentina and Venezuela's Padma Daryanani.

WBF Past-President Ernesto D'Orsi and current Vice-President Joan Gerard had a standard auction to 4♥. Lambardi led the ace of clubs and didn't very much like what he saw. He switched to a diamond for the jack and king, D'Orsi dropping the ten. Daryanani switched back to clubs and D'Orsi won in hand and led a diamond to the nine. The nine of hearts was covered by jack and queen. Crossing to dummy to take a second heart finesse risked defeat if North had ducked the heart king so D'Orsi settled for cashing the ace of trumps and had to concede a trick to the king; +620.

Board 4 was a dull 4♥ contract for E/W, making an over-trick.

No doubt there would be a few pairs who reached the heart game on this one but Roger Bates/Robin Klar stopped safely in 3♥. Lambardi led the jack of diamonds to the ace and a low diamond was returned to declarer's king. Bates cashed the top hearts then played four rounds of spades to pitch two club losers.

The partscore battle ended in 4♦, with Daryanani leading the ace of spades. Lambardi dropped the king on that and the switch was to a heart, ducked to the jack. With the hearts in danger of being established, Lambardi switched to a low club for the king and ace. Klar played a diamond to the queen then played the ♣J to establish a discard for a spade loser. From here she could ruff one spade, draw trumps then pitch the other; +130.

Lindkvist's 1♥ response was fairly safe in the canapé style where his partner might have five hearts but was unlikely to hold a four-card suit. The lead was a heart to the queen and ace and Weigkricht played a diamond to the ace then ran the ♣Q to the king. The heart continuation went to the ten and king and a third heart was played. Weigkricht took the percentage play in the diamond suit, running the jack, so the Dutch defenders came to a long heart; +600.

Daryanani opened 1♦ and Lambardi responded 3NT. The lead was again a heart, the queen from Beth Palmer. Lambardi won the ace and played a low diamond to the nine from Steve Robinson and ace. The club finesse lost and a heart returned to the king and ace. The hearts were cleared and Lambardi led the ♦J off the table. When Robinson followed low, Lambardi thought for a while but finally ran it to the doubleton queen; +600.

Rose-y outlook

The last time she played in a World Championship, Rose Meltzer went home with a title, becoming the first woman to win the Bermuda Bowl. Nearly a year removed from the victory with her team in Paris, she was back at in Montreal in the Mixed Pairs with teammate Peter Weichsel as her partner.

They got off to a good start in the first qualifying session, scoring better than 56%.

As in any pairs event, results can be somewhat random, and woe be unto the pair who find themselves in the wrong place at the wrong time. Of course, you need skill as well as luck to be a contender, and Meltzer-Weichsel earned many of their good results.

On this deal, a somewhat heavy but well-timed preemptive bid pushed the opponents too high.

Weichsel's had more high-card points than one might expect for a preemptive bid, but it worked out very well for his side.

As you can see, if East had pulled out the red card instead of bidding 4♥, it would have been a different story as the defense is due two high hearts plus a ruff, the ♦A and a diamond ruff and the ♣A. Four spades doubled would have yielded plus 300.

Against the heart game, Meltzer led the ♠A, followed by the ♠K and a club switch. Weichsel false carded at trick three, winning the ♣K to switch to a heart. Declarer lost two spades, two clubs and a heart to finish two down.

East-West had a chance for revenge on the next deal but it didn't work out.

1♣	Pass	1♥	Pass
2♥	Pass	2NT	Pass
4♥	All Pass

2NT was a game try of sorts, and West was happy to oblige. Meltzer led the ♦2 to the jack and ace, and at that point Weichsel could have assured defeat of the contract by continuing the suit. Even if declarer guessed the correct play in trumps - low from the East hand - the defenders would collect two trump tricks to go with two aces. On a lead of hearts from East, Meltzer could step up with the ace and play a third round of diamonds, forcing declarer to ruff with the ♥Q or be overruffed. Meltzer could also put in the ♥J and, upon winning the ace if declarer took the obligatory finesse, play a diamond for partner to overruff dummy.

Weichsel, however, did not return a diamond, getting out instead with a spade. Declarer won the king in hand, entered dummy with a spade to the ace and played a trump to her king. The result was down one and another good result for Meltzer and Weichsel.

Board 14 was an unfortunate one for Meltzer and Weichsel, who the top two spades, declarer had nowhere to go for tricks but diamonds, and when Weichsel got in with the $\diamond J$, he had a club to cash. That was plus 400 and a great result.

Board 18 prompted Weichsel to comment that his next book will be about squeezes for women. Whereas Meltzer had missed out on a squeeze earlier, it was an opponent this time.

Meltzer began with a high club, switching to a low diamond when Weichsel played the $\clubsuit 2$ a trick one. Weichsel ruffed and exited with a spade. Declarer won the king in dummy and could easily have taken the rest of the tricks. She could play a spade to the ace, picking up trumps, following with the $\diamond Q$ to the king and ace, the $\diamond J$ and a diamond ruff, then a club ruff high and a trump to hand. The last trump would have forced a discard from South, holding a high diamond a three hearts to the king. South could then fold up her cards and try to do better on the next deal.

East, however, fouled up the communication between the two hands and could come to no more than 10 tricks. Minus 420 was an excellent result for Meltzer and Weichsel.

There was nothing to the play on the next deal, but Meltzer and Weichsel had a nice auction to get to a grand slam that was by no means a universal contract.

Rita Shugart, East, opened a weak 2♥ and played it there.

Meltzer started with the ♠A, switching to a low diamond at trick two. That turned out to be the key play. Shugart, playing with Andrew Robson, won the ♦8 in hand. Shugart might have entered dummy with a club to play a trump up to her hand, but she played a low heart at trick three. Meltzer pounced on it with her queen, gave Weichsel a diamond ruff (Shugart went up with the ace) and got a spade ruff. She cashed the ♦K for the fifth trick on defense, and Weichsel still had the trump ace to come. Plus 50 was good for a lot of matchpoints.

Shugart and Robson got it back on the next deal, however.

Reuben Kunin

We received word today that Reuben Kunin, of Switzerland and Israel and for many years of Toronto, Canada, died of cancer a week ago. He was an active member of the World Bridge Federation Executive in the late Seventies and early Eighties.

He also was a highly effective captain for Israeli teams in world and international tournaments. He led Israel to a third-place finish in the 1976 Bermuda Bowl in Monte Carlo. He also was captain when Israel scored second and third-place finishes in the European Championships.

"He was always behind my shoulder," said Sam Lev, now of New York City but formerly a kingpin of Israel's internationalists. "He was always watching me - he was a very warm, very bright man. He had an uncanny sense when he judged whether we were in a winning or losing position.

"He was an outstanding captain, the kind of captain any player likes to have. He never showed his emotions and he never complained. He always took the positive view. It was a pleasure playing for him during those years from 1972 to 1980."

"We were very good friends," said WBF President Jose Damiani. "We shared many ideas and many opinions. On occasion our families would vacation together. He was a devoted friend of bridge."

Kunin is best remembered for the firm stand he took on the South African issue in 1983 during the Bermuda Bowl Championships in Stockholm, Sweden. Many countries had banned trade with South Africa because of apartheid. South Africa was eligible to play in the World Bridge Team Olympiad in Seattle, Washington, USA, in 1984, but WBF leaders knew that South Africa's presence could cause severe political issues.

The immediate problem was solved when the WBF received a letter from the South African Bridge Federation stating that South Africa was withdrawing from the Olympiad. But the WBF still had to make a decision concerning its stand on the South African issue.

WBF President Jaime Ortiz-Patino felt that the WBF should go along with the rest of the world and bar South Africa from participation in world bridge events until the apartheid issue was settled. However, Kunin and others took the stand that bridge should not be politicized, that South Africa should have as much right to compete as any other member of the World Bridge Federation.

After much lively discussion and debate, the WBF voted to bar South Africa. Kunin, who is remembered by WBF Vice-President John Wignall as a man of strong principles, tendered his resignation from the WBF. He never again took an active part in world bridge affairs.

Mazhar Jafri, also a WBF vice president, recalls the major role played by Kunin during the World Team Olympiad in Valkenburg, the Netherlands, in 1980. There were major problems with the Dutch Bridge Federation, and Kunin acted as Patino's trouble-shooter during those difficult times. "He was a very dynamic man, and he was totally devoted to the principles of the WBF," said Jafri.

Kunin was actively involved in preparing the new constitution for the WBF back in the late Seventies. He also was active in updating the laws for duplicate.

He enjoyed a good game of bridge as well. He used to be a regular at the Bermuda Regional where he often played with his wife on teams with Richard and Freddie Goldberg. Goldberg was the financial officer for the WBF at the time.

Et le Régional?

Le Rouge et le Noir par Julie Fajgelzon

En tant que professeur de bridge, je dis toujours à mes étudiants d'alterner leurs couleurs rouges et noires pour éviter toute confusion.

Hier soir, dans les paires mixtes, avec Michael Czerwonko, mon partenaire régulier, j'ai eu la main suivante:

♠ R 7
♥ A R 10 6 2
♦ A R V 10 8

Belle main, n'est-ce pas? Je l'ai contemplée un petit moment et j'ai décidé de forcer à la manche en ouvrant 1♥ et, ensuite, en faisant un saut à 3♦. Quelle déception quand mon partenaire a passé mon ouverture! Après deux passes, l'adversaire de droite a réouvert les enchères avec 2♣. Un peu plus pessimiste à, présent, je me suis contentée de dire juste 2♦. Mon adversaire de gauche a passé et mon partenaire a corrigé à 2♥.

C'est à ce moment précis que je me suis rendu compte que, malgré les précautions de la VWF qui a jugé sage de donner un rouge plus pale aux carreaux qu'aux cœurs, ma distribution était légèrement autre que celle que je l'avais pensée. Voici ma main actuelle:

♠ R 7
♥ A R 10 6
♦ A R V 10 8 2

Un peu moins belle, n'est-ce pas? L'adversaire de droite a répété ses trèfles et j'ai essayé 3♦. Mon partenaire, avec 3 cœurs et 2 carreaux, a naturellement préféré les cœurs et a donc annoncé 3♥, ce qui a terminé les enchères.

Voici la main complète:

Donneur: E, Vul: Tous

♠ A 8 2 ♥ 7 4 2 ♦ D 7 5 4 ♣ 10 5 4	<table border="1" style="border-collapse: collapse; width: 60px; height: 60px; margin: auto;"> <tr><td></td><td>N</td><td></td></tr> <tr><td>W</td><td></td><td>E</td></tr> <tr><td></td><td>S</td><td></td></tr> </table>		N		W		E		S		♠ 10 5 3 ♥ D 5 3 ♦ 3 ♣ A R D 7 3 2	♠ R 7 ♥ A R 10 6 ♦ A R V 10 8 2 ♣ 6

Nord	Est	Sud	Ouest
	Passe	1♥	Passe
Passe	2♣	2♦	Passe
2♥	3♣	3♦	Passe
3♥	Passe	Passe	Passe

L'entame était le dix de trèfle pour la dame et il a continué avec l'as de trèfle.

Que pensez-vous de mon contrat de 3♥? Je pensais que c'était peu probable que je pourrais tirer les atouts et jouir des carreaux vu l'entame à trèfle qui m'enlevait tout de suite une entrée à ma main et réduisait d'une façon drastique mes atouts. Si j'étais bien chanceuse je pourrais peut-être rentrer deux levées à carreau, une à piques, les deux atouts maîtres, deux coupes à carreau au mort et deux coupes à trèfle dans ma main, ce qui ferait un total de neuf levées.

Tout ne c'est pas tout à fait déroulé comme prévu mais j'ai quand même réussi mon contrat. Comme on ne peut faire que 130 points à carreaux, j'ai eu un très bon résultat. Il n'y a pas de justice au bridge. Peut-être devrais-je suivre mes propres conseils.

Bons débuts pour un remplaçant !

Sylvie Willard devait jouer le championnat par paires mixtes avec Hervé Mouïel. Celui-ci, affecté par un cruel deuil familial, a dû déclarer forfait. Comme substitut, la gagnante du Grand prix du CIO à Salt Lake City a trouvé, un faire valoir de luxe Jean Christophe Quantin, double champion d'Europe par paires.

Comment aller se débrouiller cette paire avec peu d'entraînement? Nous pouvons être rassuré après avoir kibbitz la toute première donne de la première séance, la donne 21, donneur Nord, NS vulnérables

Jean-Christophe Quantin, Nord, ouvrit d'un Cœur, Sylvie Willard répondit trois Piques, splinter, quatre trèfles en Nord et quatre carreaux en Sud contré sans raison par Ouest, Nord passa et Sud surcontra pour montrer son As. L'ouvreuse conclut à sept cœurs, le roi de carreau faisant l'affaire à défaut d'un éventuel cinquième cœur

Trois tours d'enchères seulement pour un grand chelem avec 27 points d'honneur, pas si mal pour le remplaçant

Basketball

Mike Bibby has signed an $80m (£52) contract which will tie him to the Sacramento Kings for seven years, reports said on Friday. Bibby's agent David Falk agreed to the deal after a meeting with the Kings president of basketball operations Geoff Petrie and co-owners Gavin and Joe Maloof.

Baseball

Sammy Sosa's 42nd home run in the bottom of the ninth inning was not enough for the Chicago Cubs as the Arizona Diamondbacks hung on for a 2-1 victory on Friday. Arizona pitcher Curt Schilling (20-4) pitched eight 2/3 innings, giving up six hits while striking out 12 to become the major leagues' first 20-game winner.

Soccer

German striker Oliver Bierhoff has joined Italian side Chievo after leaving French club Monaco. The 34-year-old played for Monaco last season, but with his career drawing to a close Bierhoff has opted for a final spell in Italy. Bierhoff made his name with Italian clubs Ascoli and Udinese before joining AC Milan.
